

Dhruv Akshay Pandit

📍 Lisbon, Portugal in Website Google Scholar ORCID

Profile

Economist and Ph.D. candidate in Data Science with an MSc in Applied Econometrics and Data Forecasting and more than three years of applied research experience. First-author in climate economics, with experience producing economic reports, dashboards, and research publications. Strong background in empirical analysis, econometric modelling, forecasting, data visualisation, and communicating complex quantitative findings clearly.

Education

Nova Information Management School (IMS) Ph.D. in Information Management with Specialization in Data Science	Sept 2024 – present
Lisbon School of Economics and Management (ISEG) MSc in Applied Econometrics and Data Forecasting (Cum Laude)	Sept 2022 – July 2024
Maastricht University BSc in Natural Sciences, Specialisation in Mathematics (Honours)	Sept 2019 – July 2022

Relevant Experience

Research Data Scientist NOVA Cidade Urban Analytics Lab Conduct applied quantitative research on urban, economic, and climate-related issues using spatial and temporal data; develop reproducible Python and R workflows from data preparation.	Sep 2024 – Present
Research Data Scientist NOVA SBE Data Science Knowledge Center - Lead author of reports on African tourism and researcher on applied projects, combining desk research with data analysis to synthesise sector data into clear reports for external audiences. - Led the expansion of the organisation's data platform, doubling the number of available indicators and developing new data visualisation dashboards.	Apr 2023 – Apr 2025
Research Data Scientist Catolica School of Business & Economics Developed and implemented econometric models in R and MATLAB for an academic research project for the Bank of Portugal, supporting empirical analysis of economic data.	Feb 2024 – Aug 2024

Selected Research and Publications

Research Focus: Economic Impact, Applied Econometrics, Environmental and Climate Economics

Pandit, Dhruv Akshay, Paulo M. M. Rodrigues, and João Seixo. “The Regional Economic Impact of Weather Shocks: Evidence from Portugal.” Journal of Environmental Economics and Management 140 (September 2026): 103409.

Pandit, Dhruv Akshay, Miguel de Castro Neto, and Paulo M. M. Rodrigues. “The impacts of weather anomalies on international tourism demand.” Banco de Portugal Economic Studies 12, no. 3 (July 2026): 81–105.

Pandit, Dhruv Akshay, Miguel de Castro Neto, and Paulo M. M. Rodrigues. “Socio-economic sensitivity to weather extremes: A scoping review of European research.” Banco de Portugal Working Paper No. 27, 2025.

Technical Skills

Economics & Methods: Applied econometrics, time series, panel data, applied macroeconometrics spatial econometrics, quantitative and qualitative research

Data & Programming: Excel, Python, R, Stata, SQL, MATLAB, PySpark, BigQuery.

Communication & Tools: Economic reports, research synthesis, data visualisation, PowerPoint, Word, Power BI, Git, GitHub, LaTeX.

Teaching and Academic Service

Invited Teaching Assistant , NOVA Information Management School Big Data Analytics (Bachelor's and Master's) and Big Data for Marketing (Master's).	Sep 2024 – Sep 2026
Referee: Portuguese Economic Journal	